ACRI Open House

Sept 30th, Moncton

You're invited to come tour the Atlantic Cancer Research Institute's state of the art research facility and meet their passionate researchers and staff. ACRI has grown from a team of one into a 30 member organisation of talented researchers and staff. After developing and commercialising a revolutionary cancer detection test, they continue to innovate with other treatments and illnesses.

Call for Nominations

Due September 23rd

Every year the community recognizes one individual from the bioscience community who has made outstanding contributions toward the growth and promotion of New Brunswick's bioscience sector.

Submit your choice for the New Brunswick Bioscience Achievement Award by sending in 150-300 words on why this individual, above all others, deserves recognition as a true champion of our sector.

Send your submission to jkeleher@bionb.org.
